

EEN. HEARD AND TOLD

(By Andrew Whitaker)

W. B. Rook of Gore Springs, in Saturday morning and paid his son's subscription. Mr. is a remarkable person, to say least. He will be 95 years old this May. His wife will be 80 years old May. They have been married years this month. Mr. Rook is strict about never being late to anything or anybody. Mr. Rook has many things to be thankful for, among them are: his good health, the fact that he has comfortable home, and that he not owe anyone a penny.

Talking to Mr. Rook about being 80 years, he said: "Any man who can get a woman, getting a WIFE is something

The above, gives me hope for our man, Mr. Austin.

Mr. Warner Horton was down in the other day to see his son, Mr. Finley Horton and nephew, Earl Horton. Mr. Warner has come from over in the delta, to Suite 2, Box 204, Oakland, Miss.

If I didn't already own a television and a radio, I wouldn't buy one and until something is done about some kind of local interference it completely messes up reception. I know that if I have a set, I don't know what I am talking about. I don't know who could or should find this damnable noise. BUT, if I was trying to sell television and radio sets, I would to find what is causing this interference, and get it corrected. What kind of motor that causes it comes on about every 15 seconds, and off for about the same length of time. God knows it's worrisome!

There hasn't been too many fish caught LEGALLY out at the spill lately.

If you need some posted signs, we have a few printed up.

Any body wanting to get anything next week's GCW (our Christmas edition) will have to have their copy by Tuesday.

I am trying to make a linotype operator out of Fred Austin. When he is real good at it, I am going to be calling him J. Fred

I heard the other day that some commercial fisherman up in Grenada Lake is using nets with a 2-inch mesh. If this is true, it must be stopped. This is what has about ruined Sardis Lake, and will ruin Grenada Lake if it isn't stopped.

I rode down the Double-Cypress Road and on down to Wolfe Lake last Saturday afternoon. I was surprised to see a nice club house on the bank of Wolfe Lake. It belongs to Mr. Dulweber in Greenwood. On the way out, I saw a big buck deer standing in the middle of the road.

I don't know about other people, but I will be glad to see Christmas and New Years, come and go.

Mr. Tom Beckwith of down about Duck Hill made his annual visit to the GCW office Tuesday, to get a box of our Christmas cards.

Mrs. Julia Talbert has been out putting up Christmas greeting ads for us. She is a hustler.

Mrs. Talbert brought us some home made candy Wednesday that was about the best I have ever eaten.

The Grenada Municipal Swimming Pool won't seem the same with "Miss Nannie" not there.

I am glad that this Christmas comes on Sunday, as Christmas day always seems like Sunday anyway.

According to the duck hunters, there is still a good many duck out on Grenada Lake, but it is next to impossible to kill any of them.

From the looks of the nuts and candy our Green Street neighbor, Lewis "Heckle" Marascalco has sacked up, he anticipates a good business before Christmas.

We had to use one of our substitute paper-catchers this week, in the person of John Nall of Carroll County. He and J. Fred are big buddies. Walking down the street together, they put you in mind of Mut and Jeff.

Mrs. Nannie Alexander Died Here Last Friday

Mrs. Nannie Rayburn Alexander, 66, beloved Grenada matron, died suddenly at her home Thursday afternoon, December 8, 1956 at one o'clock. Her death came as a shock to her family and friends, however. Mrs. Alexander has been confined to her home for some time, a sufferer of arthritis. Her death was due to coronary thrombosis.

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Garner Brothers Funeral Home with Dr. Joan Landrum, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery.

A native of Lodi, Montgomery County, she was born February 17, 1889, the daughter of William Jasper Rayburn and Jennie Lee Aldridge Rayburn. They came to Grenada to live in March of 1899. She attended Grenada Schools where she graduated in 1907 and later taught at Grayson School and at Weir Springs, both in Grenada County. She served as manager of the Grenada School Cafeteria for a number of years, and for eight years was manager of Grenada's municipal swimming pool.

On August 1, 1910 she was married to Mr. Ward Alexander. Two children were born to this union. Mrs. Margaret Alexander Davis of Grenada and H. R. Alexander of Chattanooga, Tenn.

She was an active member of the First Baptist Church and WMU, as long as her health permitted her attendance. She was also active in Eastern Star Chapter here.

"Miss Nannie", as she was affectionately called by her friends, had one of the finest memories of anyone. She remembered birthday, graduation dates, anniversaries, the dates when relatives or friends died, and was never in error. She often talked to the late Editor W. W. Whitaker, Sr., recalling incidents of their childhood here in Grenada.

She had a Christians beautiful faith, and was ever ready to contribute of her time and means to others. Among many other acts of kindness and friendship during the past twenty years, she has baked Christmas fruit cakes for her family and friends presenting them as much-appreciated gifts for Yuletide enjoyment.

"Miss Nannie" loved to help others. For this, and the very sweetness of her personality, she will be greatly missed.

Besides the above mentioned husband and two children, she is survived by two grandchildren, Wayne and Doug Alexander of Chattanooga, and two sisters, Mrs. Sam J. Simmons, Sr. and Mrs. Connie Rayburn Noble of Grenada and a brother, Johnny Rayburn of West Memphis, Arkansas.

He owned a large plantation and real estate interest in Shelby. He commuted to Shelby from Grenada, where he resided in a room in the home of Miss Minnie Lou Thompson on Kershaw Street.

His sister, Mrs. Sallie McMullen Irby, and members of her family are his nearest kin here. He has a grandson, Cpl. Murphree McMullen of Camp Hood, Texas, son of the late Pat McMullen, who arrived early Tuesday morning to attend the last rites.

Man of Prayer

Lesson for December 18, 1955

SOME people will try to tell you that we can learn nothing from the fact that Jesus was a man of prayer. He was so different from us, they say, that we must no more try to imitate him than to imitate Einstein. This is not the way the New Testament looks at it, nor the way Christian theology looks at it. Jesus "had to be made like his brethren in every respect," we are told in Hebrews 2:17. The church theologians call Christ "consubstantial with us according to his manhood," which is a way of saying that he is every bit as human as we are. Without sin, to be sure. The only prayer for forgiveness which he ever uttered was on behalf of others, not himself. If even the sinless Son of God was a man of prayer, surely we who are so imperfect and sinful need prayer even more; and we can learn about prayer from him.

The Motive of Prayer

One thing stands out: Jesus' motive or motives for praying must have been far stronger than the motive of most of us. Jesus would go without sleep or rest in order to pray. He, a man who had many friends and loved to have people around him, would withdraw from all human companions, would go far into the hills, would climb a high mountain, just in order to find a place where he could pray without interruption. In short, he took a great deal of trouble to pray. We take less trouble, because we don't feel the strong desire that he felt. But why? What was his motive? It is not so mysterious that we cannot give it a name, though it is too profound for us to fathom to the depths. It was his heart's desire for close and closer sharing of heart and life with the heart and life of the heavenly Father. Jesus shows no sign of needing to "get right" with God. He was in full harmony to his life's end. But his prayers were an expression of that harmony. The piano tuner makes the strings of the instrument ring true; but the musician then brings out the beauty that is there when all is in tune.

The Manner of Prayer

Dr. W. D. Chamberlain has written a book for plain Christians called "The Manner of Prayer," based on the Lord's Prayer. This is no place to borrow many pages from that fine book. Yet a word should be said about the manner of Jesus' prayer in general. We know that he used to attend the synagogue meetings, and we know that in those meetings formal (what we would call "printed") prayers were used, in which no doubt Jesus would join. But we hear a great deal more about his private prayers, and we can be pretty sure that for these occasions he never took a prayer-book with him. His prayers were personal, individual; they were free, and many of them were fully private, strictly between himself and His Father. This much is clear for our own prayer-practice; whatever formal prayers we may use in church, or whenever may be praying there for us (and with us, if "leading" in prayer means anything), this can be no substitute for personal, private prayer. We must never be tied down to any formula, as if God were something like a bureaucrat who would not consider a communication not in proper form! God wants to know most of all not how we say it but how much we mean it.

The Matter of Prayer

What things is it right to pray for? We can be sure of this much at least: It is always right to pray for the kind of thing which is in harmony with the "Lord's Prayer." (Incidentally, the fact that this prayer appears in more than one form in the gospels shows that it can hardly be right to insist on one set form of words.) Things not mentioned in that prayer, perhaps yes; but things out of line with it, no. Let the reader consider which of these objects of prayer are in line with the Lord's prayer: A promotion in one's job? Greater spiritual strength? The cure of an afflicted loved one? Foreign missions? An unborn child? The President of the United States? The elimination of a rival in love or business?

"Blue Chip" Industry For Mississippi...

An engineer's drawing of the $18,000,000 oil refinery which Pontiac Eastern Corporation will build and operate on Black Creek in Lamar County, Mississippi.

Big Lamar Refinery To Process State Oil

Pontiac Eastern, Gulf, State Officials Inspect.

Site of $18 Million Plant

Construction of a real "blue chip" industrial plant, an oil refinery which will process Mississippi crude oil into gasoline and other products for sale throughout the South, is getting started on the banks of Black Creek in Lamar County.

In terms of total investment, the Black Creek Refinery will be one of Mississippi's largest industries. It will cost about $18,000,000 to build and put into operation.

Pontiac Eastern Corporation, Corpus Christi, Texas, will build and operate the huge refinery. The Gulf Refining Company will supply from its production in the Baxterville and Heidelberg fields the volume of crude oil necessary to operate the refinery, and will purchase a large but undisclosed percentage of the refinery's products for sale through the Gulf's southeastern marketing organization.

The site of the Black Creek Refinery is in Lamar County, Mississippi, about three miles north of Purvis and twelve miles from Hattiesburg.

State officials, including Governor Hugh White and Governor-elect J. P. Coleman, inspected the plant site on December 6 along with Pontiac Eastern president Edwin Singer, Gulf Oil Corporation president W. K. Whiteford and other oil industry leaders from Mississippi, Texas and Gulf's Pittsburgh headquarters.

Singer and Whiteford outlined the operation of the refinery and the new process it will employ at a dinner in Jackson December 5. Hattiesburg Mayor Moran Pope acted as master of ceremonies at this dinner meeting which was attended by a number of Hattiesburg and Lamar County citizens who assisted the Pontiac Eastern Corporation in obtaining the Black Creek plant site.

Pontiac Eastern president Edwin Singer revealed that the Black Creek Refinery would consist of units for electric desalting, tar separation, thermal catalytic cracking, fluid coking, gas recovery, sulphur alkylation, unifining and platforming. He estimated that these principal units, plus the attendant auxiliaries, tankage, shops, laboratories, etc., will represent a total investment of $18,000,000.

Singer estimated that maximum employment during construction would reach 750, and that about $7,000,000.00 would be spent locally during the 15-month period of construction.

When the plant is completed and in full operation, it will employ about 150 people and will generate local expenditures of approximately $1,000,000.00 annually, Singer said. The refinery units to be built are designed to process up to 15,000 barrels of Mississippi crude oil per day.

The construction of the Pontiac Eastern Corporation refinery is under the supervision of the Fluor Corporation, Ltd., of Los Angeles, a widely-known firm specializing in the design and construction of oil and gas processing installations.

Financing for the huge Mississippi plant was arranged principally by the Mellon National Bank and Trust Company, Pittsburgh, and the Bankers Trust Company, New York.

In acquiring the Lamar County plant site, Pontiac Eastern Corporation purchased some 2000 acres, which is considerably more acreage than is necessary for the refinery alone. The potential for expansion and growth from this basic plant is evident in the fact that more than 2300 products, including a large number of plastics and chemicals, now can be manufactured from crude petroleum and by-products of refining.

The first announcement that Pontiac Eastern Corporation would build and operate a large oil refinery in Mississippi was issued by Governor Hugh White on December 6, 1954, after the governor and members of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board had met with officials of the Gulf Oil Corporation at Pittsburgh.

The twelve months since the governor's announcement have been consumed by the acquisition of a suitable plant site, preparation of the site, and necessary engineering studies.

A large percentage of Mississippi crude oil production is of low gravity, heavy and viscous, full of sulphur and asphalt. Until recently, the processing of such crude oil resulted in the recovery primarily of fuel oils and asphalt.

The big market for fuel oil and asphalt is the Eastern Seaboard, and refineries located there have been handling the demand for these products since long before oil was discovered in Mississippi.

Gulf's Interest
The Gulf organization has been interested in a Mississippi refinery since the state's oil production reached a level which would support a local refining operation. Gulf markets a complete line of petroleum products throughout Mississippi and the South, and the Gulf Oil Corporation's principal subsidiary, Gulf Refining Company, is Mississippi's foremost producer of crude oil, accounting for nearly one-fourth of the state's total oil output.

In the latter part of 1953, when Gulf's technical staff was committed to projects on a worldwide scale, the company asked Pontiac Eastern Corporation, an independent refining firm headquartered at Corpus Christi, Texas, to study the Mississippi crude oils with the aim of developing a new process by which a greater amount of the products for which there is a ready market in the South, could be recovered from the low gravity crude.

A year of research, experimentation and pilot plant studies brought forth the desired results, and ground has now been broken on the banks of Black Creek in Lamar County for a major refining facility which will process Mississippi crude oil into high-quality products for distribution and sale throughout the South.

GRENADA COUNTY "FARM OF THE WEEK"

If this is YOUR farm, you can get, without charge, a nicely mounted picture of the farm, but you must come to the Grenada County Weekly and identify it.

While you are in the GCW office, we hope to interview you and get a story, for subsequent publication, about this property and about your family.

If you need other photographs of the above, either the size shown, or larger or on postal cards, the GCW can, and will arrange for them. A reasonable charge, of course, will be made for these reproductions. Let us show you samples.

Two things that make for SAFER driving!

The first and most important thing is you — the driver. The courtesy, care, and common sense you show count more than anything else.

The second thing is the car itself. All cars are safer today. That's shown by the number of accidents in relation to the number of miles passenger cars are driven. The figure's down sharply.

Chevrolet has always made safety a major consideration, introducing many such features as the all-steel top, into its field. And this '56 Chevrolet is the safest one ever built.

Its lively new power means safer passing. Its special Ball-Race steering—oversize brakes with Anti-Dive control—bring easier, surer driving. The Unisteel construction and safety door latches of its Fisher Body—the nailed-to-the-road stability that comes from advanced suspension and better balance—the sweeping panoramic windshield—all these things add to your safety.

Seat belts with or without shoulder harness? Instrument panel padding? Of course, they're available at extra cost. As your Chevrolet dealer, we'll be glad to show you the many safety features of the '56 Chevrolet.

Citizens Council In Need of Funds

(Editorial by Maj. Fred Sullens, Jackson Daily News, November 20, 1955)

The Citizens Council was launched in Mississippi for a worthy purpose—the preservation of the integrity and supremacy of the white race.

The work of the organization will be kept within that consecrated purpose.

Meaning, specifically, that the Citizens Council is pledged to do everything within the power of good citizens to prevent the United States Supreme Court from enforcing its order to abolish segregation in our public schools.

More than 50,000 loyal clear-visioned and fearless Mississippians have been thus far enrolled as members.

At this moment the state organization is in need of funds. The nominal membership fee is not sufficient for proper maintenance of its work.

Expenses have been kept to the minimum. At the state headquarters office in Winona there are only three salaried employees—the state secretary and two office clerks.

Robert Patterson, state secretary, retained at a very modest salary, is a veritable fiend for work. He labors from early morning until late at night. He lives, breathes and eats the work to which he's so deeply consecrated, and he surely does deserve the liberal support of all Mississippians who feel a heart interest in this great cause.

At least two additional field men are needed at headquarters office for the formation of more local councils but it is not financially possible to employ them at this time.

Enemies cannot be fought without weapons. The NAACP is being well financed by Northern radicals for its fight to force social equality on Southern people. It is waging a systematic money-raising campaign and is getting substantial returns. The shakedown is very fruitful.

Here in Mississippi we cannot afford to let our battle wane or fail because of the mere lack of funds with which to pay legitimate expenses. We must be prepared to meet any emergency and just now there is urgent need for contributions that will be the sinews of war for the fight ahead.

Now here's where you come in, Mr. John Citizen:

If you sincerely believe in white supremacy, if you want to prevent the mixing of Negroes and whites in our public schools, prove your belief by sending a check to Ellett Lawrence, of Greenwood, chairman of the finance committee.

Recently the little city of Indianola sent in a donation of $1,150. That would be a fine example for others to follow.

Here in Jackson the local council, one of the most active in the state, has not spent a penny except for clerical work. Bill Simmons, the highly efficient secretary, is serving free of charge.

That's generally true of local councils all over the state. It is the state headquarters office that needs a helping hand just now. Surely you will not refuse to do your share.

The day is dawning when all Mississippians must stand up and be counted.

You are either for the preservation of your own race or you are against it. There is no middle ground.

Well, the Ford Foundation chalked up the biggest philanthropic gift on record Monday, December 12th, when a half billion dollars was set aside to aid colleges, hospitals, medical schools and institutions all over America. We carefully read the Mississippi list in the Commercial Appeal of those receiving gifts, and Grenada Hospital was not listed.

Mr. Tom King, sheriff-elect of Grenada County, attended the state-wide meeting in Jackson Monday. This meeting, called by Gov.-elect J. P. Coleman, had as its primary purpose, a closer cooperation of sheriffs and the governor in controlling law violators. He bluntly states a recall of any sheriff who shirks his duty. He is reported as saying that gamblers and juke joints face a four-year holiday. Kenneth Toler, Jackson, Miss. reporter said recently "That oft-promised new day in Mississippi politics may be close at hand". Well we will see right after he takes office on January 17.

College students are expected to come home this weekend for Christmas holidays. There will be parties and dances next week, visitors will be here. A nice compliment to your guests is to announce their visit in the local papers. Please call Mrs. Whitaker, 747 for all news items.

This Is How It Is In California
Dearest mother,

Hope you had a nice Thanksgiving with Caroline and family. I know you found enough there to keep you busy; also know C. was glad to see you and needs you to lend her a hand.

Sunday was a fine day, almost warm in the sun and cold in the shade. We decided to go on a picnic, so I fried chicken, made sandwiches, a thermos of coffee, etc., and we set out in the car. We drove along the Sacramento River through Calif.' delta. The wide, clear river winds through some of the most beautiful flat country I have ever seen. On either side of the river, great country houses, real old mansions, occupy the bluffs. We went through a number of little quaint towns. We drove about 30 miles and came to a commercial fishing pond and picnic ground area. The management furnishes tackle bait and stocked pond. You pay 40¢ a pound for the speckled trout you catch. It is impossible not to catch any fish and it isn't really sporting. I caught one which was 11 inches long; Steve caught one which was 12 inches long and one which was 7½ inches long. The little one was free as it was under 8 inches. Then we quit as we hadn't stopped to fish but to eat our picnic. We really enjoyed our outing.

Nearly every day, I rake the leaves, but the ground gets covered all over again every night.

It is now afternoon and still so foggy that all the cars passing by have their lights on. We heard on the radio that the South was having a cold wave. We are having the same cool wave which arrived in October and if history repeats itself, the same cool wave will be with us until July.

Some juvenile delinquents are holding the sheriff of this county for ransom somewhere in the mountains. What will they do next?

Little Laura is very fish conscious. She looked at her orange juice this morning and excitedly said: "Mama, fish." She was pointing at the seeds which I neglected to get out.

Last night we went downtown and got my Mother (you) a Christmas present and showed little Laura the toy dept. She wants a rocking chair, a rocking horse, a fur kitty, several dolls, a tricycle, a bicycle, wagon, etc. etc. She surely enjoyed looking at all the things. I think we will get her a rocking chair which plays a tune when rocked. She has a toy horse which Steve may attach rockers to and convert into a rocking

We were glad to get your card on Saturday. We also enjoyed reading the OCW very much. I think Andrew is doing well writing the column. He oughtn't to kick poor Old Ike when he's down, tho. I admit I don't like him either. I will be so glad when we get a tennis player in the White House (Adlai). What did F. D. R. play? I think he just went swimming and Mr. Truman went walking and played poker.

Write soon. I love you.

Your daughter, Dorothy.
